To the SECOND EDITION.

AS we observed in the Preface to the First Edition of this Work, that “Many School-masters and others have long wished for a Book of this Kind, of a moderate Price, calculated not only for Youth, who have made a pretty good Progress in Writing and Cyphering, but also for those Children who are but Beginners in Arithmetic:” The AUTHORS, at the repeated Instances of several of those MASTERS of SCHOOLS, undertook this Work. The great Encouragement the Schoolmasters in general gave to our First Edition demands our grateful Acknowledgements; and therefore, by the Advice of several of them, we have in this Edition retrenched what they thought less necessary, and added other Articles which they apprehended of more Importance; and we have likewise, at their Request, reduced the Book from an Octavo Size sewed, to a neat Pocket Volume bound.

And in order to recommend this Edition, we have presented the Public with Four Copper Plates neatly written, and elegantly engraved, designed as exact Specimens for Youth to imitate as well at School as at Home, being the Forms of an Acquittance, Promissory Note, a Bill of Parcels, and Alphabets of the modern Round, Text and Running Hands, with the Characters made use of to express Money, Weights and Measures; likewise the Form of a Will, an English Bond, and the Copy of an Invoice, with the Method of drawing up a Petition for a Clerkship in the Bank of England, which may be adapted to any other Public Office;

also some Familiar Letters by Way of an Epistolary Correspondence, suited to the Capacities of the younger Sort of both Sexes, which we would recommend to be frequently copied over. We have also presented the young Pupil with an Addition to the Set of Questions, being such as are not intended to puzzle and perplex, but to exercise him in the noble Science of Numbers; and in order to render them the more entertaining, and to encourage him to, and further him in the Knowledge of Arithmetic, an exact Solution is given to each Question, except those in Addition and Subtraction, which will not only be a Satisfaction to him, but an Ease to his Instructor, who will be saved the Trouble of examining his Pupil's Work. Besides these Alterations, Additions and Improvements, which we flatter ourselves will meet with Approbation, we cannot but apprehend that the beautiful and regular Manner in which the Work is printed, especially the Bills of Parcels, and Bills on Book-Debts, (most of which have been copied from Bills in real Business, and are exact Patterns for Youth to imitate) will be a great Recommendation to the Book; and lastly, for the Convenience of the Teacher, the Receipts, Promissory Notes, and every following Article, are numbered in a regular Order. We shall not take up any more Time in saying any thing further of the Performance, but only wish it may answer the Intent of its Publication, viz. An Introduction for Youth, whereby they may attain to the Knowledge of those Things that are necessary for them to be acquainted with, before they enter upon the more difficult and important Branches of Trade and Business.

GENTLEMEN,

IF I may form an Idea of the Whole, by the many Specimens you sent me, your Book needs not my Recommendation; the Work speaks for itself.
 I own it appears to me properly adapted to instruct the Young and Unexpe-rienced, in the previous Steps needful to Trade, &c. and when generally known, I am persuaded, will prove a public Advantage. I am,

GENTLEMEN,

Your sincere Friend and Servant,

JOSEPH CHAMPION.

To the Authors of The New INTRODUCTION to Trade and Business.

GENTLEMEN,

HAVING perused your New INTRODUCTION to Trade and Business, I am obliged; in common Justice to the Performance, to acknowledge, that I think it is the best adapted Piece of its Kind to give Youth a proper Idea of, and Insight into real Business. The Perspicuity and Conciseness, with which you have handled the Subject, must not only render it an agreeable and complete Instructor for Youth; but also of great Ease to those who are engaged in that Branch of Education.

It would be needless for me to say any thing further in Praise of a Work that is Self-recommendatory; therefore wishing you all possible Success and Encouragement, I subscribe myself

Your sincere Friend,

and humble Servant,

TRADE AND BUSINESS.

Various Forms of RECEIPTS.

Receipt or Acquittance is a Discharge in Writing, for Money that was due, and is paid, given at the Payment thereof by the Receiver to him that pays it.
For Example;

If a Person goes to a Shop, &c to buy Goods; after the Value of all the Goods bought is found, and the Money paid to the Shopkeeper or Seller; the said Seller should give the Buyer a Receipt in full of all Demands, if the said Buyer owes him nothing more.

*Suppose then Mrs Wainwright goes to the Shop of Thomas Withers, a Linen-Draper, and buys the Goods expressed in the Bill Numb. 15: the Price of all the Goods is £ 2 .. 10 .. 2, which Mrs Wainwright pays immediately to Thomas Withers:
Then the said Thomas Withers is to write a Receipt at the Bottom of the Bill after this Manner:*

B

I Received

2 Various Forms of RECEIPTS.

N^o 1 Received, at the same Time the Contents, in full of all Demands :

Thomas Withers.

But if the Receipt is wrote on a separate Piece of Paper (which upon some Occasions may happen some time after the Goods are bought) then the Sum received must be specified, and the Receipt made thus :

2 Received the 28th of August 1767. of Mrs Wainwright, Two Pounds, Ten Shillings, and Two-pence, in full of all Demands * :

£ 2 .. 10 .. 2

Thomas Withers.

When only a Part of the Contents of a Bill, or Sum of Money due is paid.

Suppose John Crook pays immediately to Thomas Townsend, Ten Pounds, Ten Shillings, in Part of the Upholferer's Bill Numb. 10. Thomas Townsend is to write a Receipt below the Bill, Thus :

3 Received, at the same Time, Ten Pounds, Ten Shillings, in Part of the above Bill :

Thomas Townsend.

But if the Receipt is given upon a separate Piece of Paper, as above mentioned, it is to be expressed thus :

4 Received the 10th of February, 1767. of Mr John Crook, Ten Pounds, Ten Shillings, in Part of a Bill of Eighteen Pounds, Sixteen Shillings, and Four-pence :

£ 10 .. 10

Thomas Townsend.

Sometimes the Sum in the Bill, &c. is omitted, and the Receipt is wrote thus :

5 Received the 27th of May, 1767. of Mr John Crook, Ten Pounds, Ten Shillings, on Accompt † :

£ 10 .. 10

Thomas Townsend.

* Or, and all Demands. And sometimes, in full of all Accompts.

PROMISSORY NOTES.

A Promissory Note is a written Paper, containing a Promise to pay a certain Sum of Money, at a certain Time fixed or appointed.

They are required as a Security for Payment, either of Cash lent, a Book-Debt, &c.

Promissory Notes, for a valuable Consideration, should always mention the Value received, if the Thing itself is not specified; which gives them Validity in a Court of Judicature.

Promissory Notes payable to A. B. or Order, are indorsible from one Person to another, which is done in the following Manner. The present Possessor writes his Name on the Back of the Note, and delivers it the Party, whose Property it is to be.

It is unnecessary to indorse a Promissory Note payable to Bearer, if the Note is good.*

Promissory Notes, and Book-Debts, if not legally demanded in Six Years, cannot be recovered by Law. Vide Statute of Limitation.

Of BILLS of EXCHANGE.

A Bill of Exchange is a written Order, given by one Person [called the Drawer] to another [called the Remitter] of whom the Drawer has received the Value expressed in the Bill; and the Remitter is to send it to the Person (residing in a distant Place, or different Country) to whom or to whose Order, the Bill is made payable; where the said Person, or his Order, should immediately present it for Acceptance to the Person upon whom it is drawn, and receive the Money when it is due. For Example:

Suppose Robert Remit of Bristol, is to pay to Timothy Takecash of London £ 300; and he applies to David Drawbill of Bristol, who has a Correspondent, Paul Paygood, in London, that has Money belonging to him in his Hands: David Drawbill receives this £ 300 of Robert Remit, and writes an Order (which Robert Remit sends to Timothy Takecash) for Paul Paygood to pay this £ 300 to the said Timothy Takecash, or his Order, at Sight, or so many Days after Sight, or so many Days after Date, &c. as they agree upon, after this manner.

Bristol, January 1, 1767. £ 300

At Sight pay Mr Timothy Takecash, or Order, Three hundred Pounds; the Value received of Mr Robert Remit, and place it to Accompt as ~~per~~ Advice from

To Mr Paul Paygood,
at the Golden Apple,
St Martin's-le Grand,
London.

David Drawbill,

David Drawbill is to give Paul Paygood Advice in a Letter, by the first Post, that this Bill is drawn upon him, and when to be paid: But upon some Occasions this Advice is thought unnecessary, and then instead of the Words, as ~~per~~ Advice, in the Bill, it must be, without farther Advice, or something to the same Purport.

N. B. It is common for Bills to be made payable to the Remitter, or his Order; and then the Remitter writes his Name on the Back of it (which is called indorsing) and sends it to his Correspondent, who is to present it for Acceptance, as above.

Sometimes the Remitter himself draws the Bill, and then there are but three Persons concerned. See Bill, Numb. 15.

And sometimes, though seldom, but two Persons are concerned. See Bill, Numb. 16.

The following Directions ought generally to be observed in drawing Bills of Exchange.

- 1 Set down at the Top of the Bill, on the right Hand, the Place where, and the Day when, the Bill is drawn, with the Sum, in Figures, immediately following in the same Line.
 - 2 The Time of Payment must begin the next Line.
 - 3 If it be foreign, mention whether first, second, or third Bill.
 - 4 Then must follow the Name of the Person in whose Favour it is drawn, with the Words or Order, immediately after it; and the Sum of Money in Words at length.
 - 5 If foreign, the Price of Exchange generally comes next.
 - 6 Of whom the Value was received, and to whose Account it is to be placed: with the Words as per Advice, or without farther Advice, &c. as the Occasion requires.
 - 7 The Drawer must write his Name underneath, on the right Hand.
 - 8 The Address or Direction to the Person who is to pay the Bill is to be placed underneath on the left Hand.
- See the Bills of Exchange, both Inland and Foreign.

OBSERVATIONS concerning Bills of Exchange.

Although a Bill of Exchange cannot be called a Speciality, because it hath not the Formalities required by the common Law of England; as Seal, Delivery, and Witnesses; it is notwithstanding equivalent thereto, and may be reckoned to exceed any Speciality, carrying a commanding Power with it, even if directed from a Servant to his Master: for if the Master accepts it, his Honour and Credit are equally concerned that it be paid when due; because both would suffer, if not paid.

Noting and Protesting are the Consequences attending the Failure of Payment, which alarms the Public, and soon puts a Stop to a Person's Commerce.

In order to prevent Interruption of Business, by Misfortune of Letters or other Accidents, Merchants, if the Bill be Foreign, always draw two or three, all of the same Tenor and Date, every one of which excepts against the other two, to prevent the Acceptor's paying more than one of them through Mistake. These Bills the Remitter sends to his Correspondent to whom they are made payable, by different Posts, and when one of them is paid the rest are of no Force.

As Bills of Exchange seldom come without Letters of Advice, so they ought to be carefully examined: For if it should be expressed in a Bill, thus, Place it to the Account of A, and in the Letter of Advice it is B, it ought to be protested; for it cannot be paid without running the Hazard of a Law-Suit.

If the Person to whom the Bill is directed refuses to accept it after twenty four Hours Deliberation, if it be a Foreign Bill, or when it is presented, if an Inland Bill, Protest must be made for Non-Acceptance at the Place of his Abode, by a Notary Public, who must be a Witness of that Refusal; which Protest should, for the Security of the Presenter, be returned by the first Post to the Remitter, that he may immediately send a new Bill, or take proper Measures with the Parties concerned.

In all Countries, Processes at Law concerning Bills of Exchange are sooner ended than in any other Case; but no Satisfaction can be got of the Drawer or Indorsers, unless the Bill be duly protested; which being neglected, the Possessor has no Security but the Acceptor: But if he gets the Bill protested in due Time, he holds the Drawer, and all the Indorsers, for the Principal, Interest, and Damages. Therefore, if the Payment of an accepted Bill be refused the very Day it becomes due, it must be noted, that is, put into the Hands of a Notary Public, who will carry or send it to the Person that it is drawn upon; and if he refuses Payment, upon any Pretence whatsoever, the Notary Public will protest it.

If a Bill becomes due on a Sunday, Christmas-day, Fire of London, or King Charles's Martyrdom, it must be demanded the Day before; and if not paid, noted and protested that Day.

No Bill of Exchange can be protested, except the Value be mentioned therein to have been received.

The Rate of Exchange is always mentioned, when foreign Cities draw Bills upon London; because they draw in their own Money: But when Bills are drawn at London on foreign Cities, in their Money, the Rate of Exchange is not mentioned; that being settled between the Remitter and the Drawer, and does not concern the Acceptant nor the Receiver, they being absolutely for so many Pieces, or so much of their Current Money; except in Holland, in which Case the Sum is first put down in Sterling, and the Rate of Exchange follows.

BILLS of PARCELS.

A Bill in Trade, both Wholesale and Retail, as also amongst Tradesmen and Workmen, is an Account of Merchandise or Goods sold and delivered to a Person; or of Work done, with the Prices annexed, and the Sum Total found.

A Bill of Parcels is an Account of the particular Sorts of Goods bought at the same Time, with their Prices annexed and added together into one Sum, and given by the Seller to the Buyer, that he may see how much he has to pay for them. They are called Bills on Book Debts, if the Goods are bought at different Times, and all the Particulars are entered into the Seller's Book (out of which they are drawn) to which the Year and Day of the Month when each were bought, is prefixed.

GENERAL

GENERAL DIRECTIONS for writing Bills of Parcels, &c.

- 1 The Buyer's Name is placed in the beginning of the first Line.
- 2 The Words Bought of, the Seller's Name, with the Day of the Month and Year, following one another, are so placed as to end the second Line: But sometimes the Date is put at the end of the first Line, as in the Hosier's Bill, Numb. 13. or before the first Article, as in the Upholsterer's Bill, Numb. 8.
- 3 In the following Lines are wrote down the different Sorts of Goods bought, with their particular Prices after each, placed at the end of the Lines; and between each Article and its Price, there must be made, exactly in the Line the Words are wrote upon, little short Strokes, like Hyphens in Print, about as far distant as they are long; leaving about three Times that Distance between them and the Words before them; and also the same Distance between them and the first Column of the Money after them; as in the following Bills.

But when a Number of Yards, &c. is bought, at so much for each, the short Strokes are to be continued till they come so near the Word at, as is above mentioned, and also after the Price, till they be so near the Margin as to leave only sufficient Room to write down the Price of the Quantity expressed; as may be seen in the Linen Draper's Bill Numb. 21. &c.

- 4 Place the Figures of each Quantity so that the Units may be directly even under each other, and Tens under Tens, &c. without slanting to the right Hand or to the Left; the same is to be observed of the Words at, and also the different Denominations, of Money, Weight, &c. between which Denominations, and on the Line upon which the Words and Figures are written, there must be made two little very short and plain Strokes, near one another; thus, £ 2 .. 8 .. 9*. See the first Article of the Upholsterer's Bill, Numb. 8.
- 5 The Lines between which the Sum Total is to be placed, must be drawn only just as far as the outermost Figures reach on each Side of the Sum.

If Youth, when at Schools, were accustomed to write Bills in this exact order, it would make them, ever after, perform well when they enter into real Business.

* As there is no such Type for the Print, we are here obliged to make use of two Dots instead thereof, which ought not to be imitated in Writing, because the two short Strokes above mentioned are more expeditious.

EPISTOLARY
CORRESPONDENCE,

FAMILIAR LETTERS.

LETTER I.

From a Youth at School in the Country, to his Father in Town.

HONOURED SIR,

Bromley, 18th of July, 1767.

IN Obedience to your Commands, I take this Opportunity not only to acquaint you, that I am in very good Health, (hoping you, Mama, and my Brothers and Sister enjoy the same Blessing) but to let you see the Improvement I have made in Writing; which I flatter myself will be pleasing to you. I think myself very happy in being placed under so good a Master, whose Kindness is so engaging, as must tempt the most idle Drone to a Love of Learning; I hope that, under his Tuition, I shall make such Progress in my Studies, as will be satisfactory to all my Friends, honorary to my Master, and advantageous to myself in future Life. Mr and Mrs Hartley desire their Compliments to you. Be pleased, Sir, to present my Duty to my Mama; my Love to Brothers and Sister; Respects to all inquiring Friends, and to accept all humble Duty and Submission yourself, from

HONOURED SIR,

Your most dutiful Son,

James Carefull.

LETTER II. Being an Answer to the foregoing Letter.

Dear Brother,

IN Obedience to my Papa's Commands, I write this to acquaint you, that we received your Letter, and assure you that Papa and Mama were extremely well pleased with it, and think you much improved; my Papa has shewn it to several of his Acquaintance, and in particular to Mr Langdon, who so much approved of it, and the Character you gave your Master, that he will send his Son Billy to board at your School; so that you will enjoy the Company of your old Play-fellow. Papa hopes you will persevere in the Resolution you have taken to apply yourself to your Studies, as you seem to be sensible of the Advantages you may reap from them in future Life. My Mama has made you a Cake, which you will receive by Bromley Coach, and desires that if you stand in Need of any thing, you would write us Word, and your Wants shall be readily supplied. Papa and Mama give their Blessing to you and Compliments to Mr and Mrs Hartley, and will not be wanting in Encouragement, if you mind your Learning. You are requested at all convenient Opportunities to keep up an epistolary Correspondence. I conclude with my Brother's and Sister's Love to you, and with wishing you Health and Happiness.

Dear Brother,

Fleet-street,
July 20th, 1767.

Your most affectionate Brother,
Thomas Carefull.

LETTER III. An Answer to the Second Letter.

Dear Brother,Bromley, 24th July, 1767.

I Duly received your kind Letter of the 20th Instant, and am glad to hear that Papa, Mama, Brother and Sister are well, and that my Writing was so much approved of; and the more so, as it is likely to be instrumental in gaining my Master an additional Scholar, and me one of my old Play-fellows. I do assure you, dear Brother, that I promise myself great Felicity in the Renewal of my Friendship with Master Langdon, to whose worthy Parents I beg my sincere Respects. I cannot find Words sufficient to express the Duty and Gratitude I owe to my dear Papa and Mama, for their tender Care, and the Encouragement they give me, in my Education. The Cake my Mama was so kind to send me was exceeding good, which several of my Schoolfellows can testify; but especially Master Hartley. I do not stand in Need of any other Wearing Apparel at present, but what I have, except two Pair of Stockings and one Pair of Shoes; and be pleased, with them, to pack up, and send Hudson's French Scholar's Guide, his New English Introduction to the Latin Tongue, and Youth's New Introduction to Trade and Business, with Dean's Practice, and Spelling Book, they being all used in our School, and which my Master would have supplied me with; but I told him I had them at Home. Mr and Mrs Hartley desire their Compliments to Papa and Mama, and have sent my Brother and Sister a Basket of Pears and Apricots. I have no more to add at present, but that I am, with Duty to Papa and Mama, and Love to Brother and Sister,

Dear Brother,

Yours affectionate'y,
James Carefull.

LETTER IV. Being an Answer to the last.

Dear Brother,

Fleet-street, 1st August, 1767.

YOURS of the 24th July was received the same Day I came to Town: I should have been glad to have heard from you when I was in the Country, but as we were continually on the Move, it was impossible to direct to us. We were very kindly received and entertained at Mr William's Country Seat at Forty Hill; there needed nothing but your agreeable Company to compleat our Happiness; for want of which the Country seemed in a great Measure to fall short of those Entertainments it heretofore used to afford us. But this Pleasure we could with the less Reluctancy deny ourselves, when we reflect on the Advantages you are likely to reap from your Application to your Studies. The Knowledge of Learning, and the Improvement of the Mind, are truly laudable and manly Pursuits. However, dear Brother, notwithstanding these your earnest Engagements, I hope you will condescend to write to me at every Opportunity, and you may, in return, rest assured that you shall, on all suitable Occasions, hear from,

Dear Brother,

Your affectionate Sister,

P. S. Papa and Mama send you their Blessing and Brothers their Love, with Compliments to Mr and Mrs Hartley, to whom return our Thanks for the Pears and Apricots, which were extremely good.

Isabella Carefull.

When the Learner understands well how to read the first Nine Numbers, he may easily read any other Number that does not consist of more than Nine Figures. For Example; If the Number does not consist of more than Six Figures, those on the left Hand of the first 3, must be read in the same Manner as some one of these Nine Numbers, calling them Thousands: And if the Number consist of One, Two, or Three Figures more, these last mentioned Figures are also to be read in the same Manner as some one of the above Nine Numbers, calling them Millions. Thus,

Millions	Thous.

...	8,888
...	.88,800
...	888,800
..	8,808,008
.	88,080,088
	800,800,800

QUESTIONS.

Numeration. 79

By this Means any of the above Numbers may be very easily read, by pointing off every Third Figure from the Right to the Left.

In like manner any of the Numbers following, that are to be written down in Figures may be easily done : Thus,

Suppose I am to write down the 21st Number, by reading it I find that the Number of Thousands is 310, which I set down first, then placing the 603 which follows, after it, it will stand thus, 310,603.

So of Number 26. First put down all the Millions, viz. 3, then consider how many Thousands there are in all, they will be found to be 301. which being placed after the 3 Millions will stand thus, 3,301, the rest of the Number being 90, must nevertheless take up three Places as the Eighth Number of those to be read thus, 090, which being placed after the other will stand thus, 3,301,090.

USE

USE of the PERPETUAL ALMANAC.

THE TABLE, which serves from the Beginning of the Year 1758, and is numbered to the Year 1832, may be continued to any Year following, by adding 1832 under the second Column; missing one after the fourth Year *, and so on continually, as is seen in the Table itself.

1. To find the Day of the MONTH for any Day of the Week.

When the YEAR is found in the Table, under the Word YEARS, the Letter above it is the Dominical, or Sunday Letter for that whole Year. If this or these Letters be remembered, there is no farther Use for that Table till the Beginning of the following Year; all that is to be done is to find the Month, which is placed before the second Table, and to find the same Dominical Letter against it, on the right Hand; above which, in the same Column, are put down in Figures, the Days of the Month for every Sunday of that Month.

EXAMPLE I.

Suppose I am to find what Day of the Month it is, on the first Thursday of September 1758. Against September, I find the Dominical Letter A, above which I find that the first Sunday is the 3d; then counting to the right Hand, Monday 4, Tuesday 5, Wednesday 6, and Thursday the 7th, which was to be found; then Friday, the Day following, will be the 8th, Saturday the 9th, and Sunday the 10th, above the same Dominical Letter, &c. and the next Sunday under it, is the 17th, the following Sunday under that, the 24th, and the next following would be the 31st, if it had 31 Days; but as it has but 30, Sunday must be the first of October, as appears by finding the Month October and over the Letter A against it, is Sunday first, second Sunday is the 8th, third Sunday 15, fourth Sunday 22, and fifth Sunday 29. Monday the 30th and Tuesday 31, then Wednesday will be the first of November, Thursday the 2d, Friday the 3d, Saturday the 4th, and Sunday the 5th; as may be seen over the Letter A against November.

* The Year 1800, 1900, and all other Hundredth Years are not to be Leap Years; except the Years 2000, 2400, 2800, and every four Hundredth Year following, which must be Leap Years.

EXAMPLE II.

What Day of the Month will the second Tuesday of October be, for the Year 1758?

I find the second Sunday is the 8th; then Tuesday will be the 10th.

2. To find the Day of the WEEK for any Day of the Month given.

On what Day of the Week will Christmas-Day (being the 25th of December) happen, for the Year 1758?

Answer, The 24th Day is Sunday, consequently Christmas-Day will be the 4th Monday in December.

EXAMPLE III.

Suppose my Birth-Day is the 26th of March, on what Day of the Week will it happen, in the Year 1760, when the Dominical Letter is E?

Against March and above E, the 4th Sunday is found to be the 23d; then Monday will be the 24th, Tuesday the 25th, and Wednesday will be the 26th.

This Almanac will be very useful to People of all Trades and Professions whatsoever, as it may be put into a Pocket-Book, stuck or hung up in a Room, &c.
